Principal's News

Dear Parents

On Tuesday I was privileged to assist in the supervision of our Year 5 students on their Whale Watching excursion. It was as always, amazing for children to see these huge, gentle and beautiful creatures up close.

The excursion concludes with a visit to the Information Sphere in Hervey Bay where children complete activities and see a documentary. In the film they watched, they learned of the "three lores" that the indigenous Butchulla people have followed since creation.

1. What is good for the land comes first.
2. Do not take or touch anything that does not belong to you.
3. If you have plenty, you must share.

At a time when we seem almost obsessed with regulations, protocols, policies, legal requirements and so on, it was refreshing to see a people whose rule was simply about doing what is right. Their culture thrived for thousands of years on these basic principles alone. There is much that we could learn from them.
