Principal's News

It's very difficult to believe that this is the last newsletter of the term. It has been such a busy time, and even these last days are filled with Camps, Excursions, Discos, Spelling Bees... One of the things I really enjoy about Camps, is the way in which challenges faced on camp, have a way of revealing people. I am always amazed by the courage, tenacity, resilience, determination and leadership shown on camp, often from students who would otherwise fly under our radar. Often these children discover the extent of their own strengths for the first time, and once they become aware of these strengths, they develop and harness them further. This growing self-awareness of our own possibilities is so very important. To a large extent, it becomes a matter of determining the type of person we want to be, and then making choices and behaving in ways that align. Steve Francis suggests that we should, "Live the Reputation You Want to Have". Thanks you for your support and understanding throughout a very busy term. We look forward to seeing you again when Term 3 begins on October 3rd.
